In this workshop, participants will learn various communication techniques and best practices in working with Deaf-Blind individuals in the community. They will learn the roles, responsibilities and differences between the Support Service Providers (SSP), Interpreters, Interveners and Communication Facilitators. Participants will also acquire an understanding of the various types of vision and hearing modalities, modifications in communication, other types of quick messaging techniques and the importance of adaptive equipment.

Participants will also have an opportunity to learn how powerful touch can be when working with consumers who have a vision and hearing loss. This will include the use of Tactile Sign Language, Touch Cues, Touch Signals, Cultural Perspectives and other systems which have been researched and successfully used in other countries. Participation will be encouraged in this workshop through hands-on practice of various communication systems.

Lunch will not be provided on Saturday, but attendees will receive an hour lunch break.
