Curious about realtime but "scaarrred" to let anyone watch your screen? Is your job on the line because you don't write realtime? This seminar is for you! A hands-on session where we will get our hands dirty learning valuable realtime skills that will set us apart from the competition and open up a whole new world of opportunities. You will learn how to write numbers to translate perfectly every time, how to write names, strategies to cope with word-boundary issues, to brief or not to brief, and much more! Don't miss this seminar if you want to conquer your fear of realtime once and for all!
