Notes: "To work in the Commonwealth you must be licensed, and to be licensed you must be nationally certified, with few exceptions. See ""Laws and Regulations Relating to Licensure as an Interpreter"" as published by the Kentucky Board of Interpreters f/t Deaf/HoH There is a bit of difference between pre-K-12 schools and postsecondary (PS). One may interpret in both settings with a temporary license (undisclosed as to how many times one can renew a temp). However, it depends on how one achieved that temp license. The temp licensee must have an NAD 3 to interpret PS (doesn't include interns). The SCPI - which doesn't measure interpreting proficiency, only communication skills - will result in a temp license that can be used in Pre & K-12 settings. The state is now looking at this and is watching what RID does with that Educational Evil. There are those who say national certification only - RID or NAD 4/5, those who want RID 3 to come under full licensure, those who push for the SCPI ... There are still schools that try to evade the licensure issue by calling the position something other than ""interpreter."""
