

28TH ANNUAL EDUCATIONAL INTERPRETERS INSTITUTE WEBINAR

Molly O'Hara, deaf from birth, excels in the fields of linguistics, curriculum development, interpreter training, and second-language learning. She has developed collegiate coursework for bicultural education and ASL instruction. O'Hara has published a bilingual handbook, "American Sign Language: A Grammar Reference Guide". Currently, she is building courses and posting them on ASLlearn.com. O'Hara has built and directed a successful internship that has brought her closer to identifying ASL phonemes. O'Hara's deaf heritage spans five generations, and she is a MO-BEI Advanced certified English/ASL interpreter with experience in the K-12 setting.
